CEO/Director*

On behalf of all our staff and collaborative partners welcome to Issue 1 of our newsletter.

It is with great pleasure that I have the opportunity to introduce you to Health Education Collaborative (HEC).

Health Education Collaborative is a clinician owned and run education provider, we strive for clinical excellence in developing and delivering innovative online and face to face courses and programs that address the actual needs of clinicians and health care education in general. Patient safety and best practice clinical outcomes are our goal.

We have been working hard over the past 6 months listening to clinicians working all areas including hospitals, general practice/primary care and community to establish what education is important to them. This is helped us design and develop specialised education programs to meet their learning needs.

One section of our work is bespoke, working with organisations to develop programs and courses specifically for them. These courses are their own; branded and marketed to their organisation or groups - “the collaborative approach to education delivery”. As well as collaborative courses and programs we will be releasing several programs in early 2020 that we have been developing over the past few months.

We are excited and looking forward to a “HEC” of a time in 2020.

Welcome to Health Education Collaborative.

Staff Training

We take course development seriously

During the past 6 months we have been developing our capacity and expertise in course development with staff attending various courses on instructional design, visual learning, interactive infographics and agile design methods amongst others.

Our goal is to make the learning experience innovative, interesting, structured and most of all enjoyable.

Let's face it we have all attended boring courses, online programs that are all text with little interaction, the odd photo or video or a face to face course where the lecturer just repeats the PowerPoint slides.

Above is an example of an interactive animation which is utilised as part of our courses. This is designed to help you retain information from areas just studied. It's a learning knowledge check not an assessment; its interactive, guides you to the correct answer and informs you of further information related to the question and topic.

This is just one of the innovative interactions that we use in our courses.

Content is everything! It needs to be up to date and valid. Our courses are developed by exceptional clinicians who are have expertise in their clinical area and validated buy our education committee. Excellent content, along with innovative interactive course design is paramount to us and that's why we invest in staff training.

Clinical Assessment

Health Education Collaborative have developed a course in clinical assessment. The importance of good clinical assessment cannot be underestimated, recognition of the deteriorating patient is fundamental for patient safety.

I am passionate about teaching clinical assessment in a structure and methodical approach. I have been working for over 10 years in simulation, facilitating clinical scenarios and MET/ALS simulations for medical and nursing professionals.

This course has been developed by myself and an Emergency Physician who is also a simulation facilitator. This course is the foundation course of clinical assessment. Later this year there will be subsequent scenario-based training courses in clinical deterioration based on the DRSABCDE principles.

Clinical Assessment is now live, go to our web site for more details and to enroll in this must do course. It is imperative for clinicians to become expert in a systematic assessment, so you can detect early signs of deterioration and intervene appropriately.

This course is applicable for all clinicians working in all areas including acute hospital and general practice.

Web Site

Our web site is undergoing lots of changes which will be happening over the next few months. We want to make it easy to navigate (not 10 screens to scroll down to get to where you want to go), just a simple slider main screen with top and bottom navigation bars.

Got an idea for a course or program?

Want to turn your academic research into a course?

Already have the material but not sure how to develop it and get it out there?

Want someone to develop a learning program for your organisation using your ideas?

We have a Learning Management System and became part of an international learning and development community, so if we can't do it, we have access to thousands of course developers to help us achieve the result we are looking for.

Developing a course with us means developing a partnership, you are the expert of your course or program we are the experts in course development and we are also experienced clinicians and speak your language.

We develop courses and programs from short online programs to accredited endorsed courses working together using a structured story board approach an agile design methods.

We also create learning pathways utilising courses or programs that organisations are already providing. In this collaborative approach of grouping courses from a number of organisations including HEC courses we create clinical career pathways for health professionals. This provides the best outcomes for students and each collaborative partner involved.

We partner with organisations, peak bodies and individuals to develop courses branded and marketed as their own course powered by Health Education Collaborative with a mutually beneficial outcome.
