Health Education Collaborative Newsletter

A note from the CEO

Bruce Greaves

After getting out of Melbourne for some long awaited R&R, COVID struck again forcing a change to my itinerary which was going to be an outback adventure in the NT but, soon became a SA winery tour, I'm not complaining, the wine was great. With new restrictions and boarder passes required we had to have a COVID test on entry into SA. I would just like to give a shout out to the nurse at the Berry SA collection centre that took my swabs, excellent technique and friendly professional manner.

This month we are extremely pleased to announce the national Disability Service

(NDS) Victoria as a collaborative course partner. We have been working with NDS for the past several months with face to face programs in infection prevention control and PPE training.

The online course has been developed from the face to face sessions and includes video, audio, text and imagery to accommodate a wide range of learners. The online course goes live in August. Contact us if you would like to enquire about a similar program for your organisation.

This month's clinical question

I hope everyone is keeping safe and warm. There are a few blossoms out so hopefully Spring is coming soon.

I thought it might be time for another rhythm strip.

Systematically interpret this rhythm.

Remember to use this format each time.

Regularity:

Rate:

P waves:

PR interval:

QRS complexes:

Interpretation:

How might this patient present (what symptoms might they be experiencing)?

Could the patient present haemodynamically stable?

Could the patient present haemodynamically unstable?

I will provide the answers next month.
